Using a Professional Business Cleaning Service

There are several reasons why a business may use a business cleaning service. Cleaning services are not only for aesthetic reasons. There are genuine risk reduction factors, sanitation, health and safety concerns as well as employee productivity issues.

Of course, using a cleaning service projects a professional appearance and management of the office or facility, presents a good impression on clients and visitors and makes for a safer and more attractive work environment. Some of the main benefits of a professional cleaning service are:

- Reduction of risk factors.
- Decreased or slowed deterioration of property.
- Reduction in workplace accidents.
- Aesthetics and property attractiveness to clients and thus higher occupancy.
- Reduction in maintenance costs.
- Elimination with the costs and time associated with employees and equipment.
- A clean office or building also improves employee morale and productivity.

Duties of a business cleaning service will vary from business to business. These are the basic responsibilities of a professional cleaning service:

- Keeping floors swept, mopped and vacuumed with the occasional waxing of some floors.
- Lobbies and common areas are to be cleaned, doors wiped down and horizontal areas dusted.
- Conference Rooms should be wiped, dusted and cleaned.
- Office cleaning should include removal of trash and surfaces dusted and cleaned.
- Restrooms and kitchens need special attention in their sanitation and restocking.

If your company has an on-going plan of action to reduce its carbon footprint, then you may want to use a business cleaning company that can help you in “going green”.

Insured and Bonded companies like PSM Cleaning meets the needs of businesses and offers more value for the investment. PSM Cleaning is an environmentally sensitive company and uses eco-friendly products whenever possible.
